The Kips I Didn't Get. 6he gave consent and bent her head—
I thought her strangely kind—
With ponted lips, "Just one," she said,
And then—she changed her mind—
at woman's privilege. Ah, 'twas said
To relinquish it. And yet
The sweetest kiss I ever ind
Wan that him I didn't wet

Was that kiss I didn't get.

Then how she laughed-the dainty sprite

And smoothed my scowling brow!

I played a churlish part that night—
I scarce forgive her now.

And yet 'twas better far, I'm sure, Than if our lips had me

For in remembrance will endure That kiss I didn't get. Go 'tis with life—the aims we miss

Will shine forever bright And leave a fragrance like the kiss I failed to get that night.

Ah, years may come and years may go,
But ne'er shall I forget—
The sweetest kiss I'll ever know—
The kiss I didn't got.

John R. McLean's Great Newspaper.

Without a single exception, there is beyond doubt no greater or more popular newspaper in the United States than the Cincinnati Enquirer; or a more successful publisher than its proprietor, Mr. John R. McLean. The old-time prices for the Daily Enquirer have been maintained, and its circulation largely increased each year; hard times and cheaper journals failing to arrest its onward march and high appreciation of the public for its true worth and merit. The Weekly Enquirer at beginning of the campaign year was offered at 50 cents a year, and its circulation increased by the addition of over 200,000 new subscribers; the most substantial and coveted testimonial a publisher could desire.

When asked for the secret of such success, Mr. McLean frankly answers: The Enquirer has no opinions to force upon its patrons, it simply prints the facts and tells the truth that the reader may form his own opinions. By maintaining the price of the paper, more news and greater variety can be furnished, and every class of business interests catered to, which a cheaper journal cannot afford.

The very liberal support given the Enquirer by the public at large, makes it incumbent upon the management to serve it faithfully with zeal and enterprise in minor matters as well as those of greater magnitude.

The law declares that "Each Person" charged with taxes on the Tax Duplicate in the hands of the County Treasurer may pay the full amount of such taxes on or before the 20th day of December, or one-half thereof on or before the 20th day of December. If the first half of the tax charged against real estate is not paid by the 20th of December next, a penalty of 15 per cent will be charged on the December installment, and the same penalty will be charged on the June installment of tax if not paid by the 20th of June next.

Legal means will be used to collect all delinquent personal taxes if necessary, and the Tax Payer can claim no exemptions whatever.

All persons having falled to pay their taxes due in June, 1898, will see that they are paid before the 20th of December next or they will be advertised as delinquent and offered for sale on the third Tuesday of January next, thereby saving trouble and expense.
